

Goodwill Chooses Rainmaker Staffing as Primary Staffing Agency

Rainmaker Staffing chosen to provide Goodwill of Orange County's temporary staffing needs throughout Orange County.

SANTA ANA, California — July 16, 2009 — Rainmaker Staffing, Inc. has been chosen as Goodwill of Orange County's primary agency for temporary staffing services.

The contract award means that Rainmaker Staffing will provide temporary staffing services at Goodwill of Orange County's corporate office, donation centers and 19 stores located throughout Orange County, California. Rainmaker Staffing will provide staff to help sort and receive donations, to display and tag merchandise, and clerical staff, such as data entry specialists and receptionists.

Rainmaker Staffing beat out fierce competition from other staffing agencies to become Goodwill's primary vendor. "We selected Rainmaker Staffing after a lengthy vetting process among 15 agencies," said Kim Seebach, Vice President, Human Resources, Goodwill of Orange County. The contract award is a great achievement for the locally-owned, Santa Ana-based company.

"In addition to providing competitive rates, excellent service and meeting our territory requirements, Rainmaker Staffing's corporate values are in line with Goodwill of Orange County. Its community service orientation is a big plus and its high standards and expectations meet our rigorous staffing demands," added Mr. Seebach.

"It's a great honor that Goodwill chose Rainmaker Staffing as its #1 choice for temporary staffing," said Chris Hill, Rainmaker Staffing's President. "Providing extraordinary service — not just to our customers and employees, but also to the community — is part of our mission statement and an important element of what makes Rainmaker Staffing so different."

This latest contract award adds Goodwill to Rainmaker Staffing's already impressive customer base. Founded in 2001, Rainmaker Staffing has formed staffing vendor partnerships with some of America's leading companies as the company continues to grow and expand throughout Southern California.
